SUMMARY

I am a MERN Stack Developer with a solid foundation in building scalable full-stack applications. My expertise lies in React.js, Node.js, Express.js, and MongoDB, complemented by hands-on experience with RESTful APIs, authentication systems, and secure backend architectures. I have built real-time applications using WebSockets, integrated payment gateways, and deployed production-ready MERN applications. Passionate about leveraging AI technologies to create innovative and intelligent web solutions.
